

Cindy Cook, Senior Facilitator, Adamant Accord, Inc.

Cindy is the Principal of Adamant Accord, and is a national leader in the field of community involvement and environmental dispute resolution. Cindy is adept at preparing meeting materials that distill complex information in readily understandable formats and in designing and facilitating public meetings that address the needs of the community. She is past Vice President of the Board of the Association for Conflict Resolution, and served as co-chair of ACR's Environment and Public Policy Section. She teaches at Vermont Law School and is a Fellow of the school's Land Use Institute.

Cindy is an Affiliate of RESOLVE--a Washington, DC based non-profit organization dedicated to advancing the effective use of consensus building in public decision making, and is a member of the U.S. Institute for Environmental Conflict Resolution's roster of practitioners, and served on the Vermont Governor's Commission on Dispute Resolution. Cindy has over twenty years of experience in designing and facilitating public outreach and involvement programs for complex environmental projects. Cindy is a graduate of Yale, and brings intelligence, warmth and humor to her work. For more in-depth information about Cindy's experience, please visit www.adamantaccord.com.
